PHRASAL VERBS (T)

take after

- Resemble in appearance

  She takes after her Mom and her brother resembles their Dad.

take apart

- dismantle or separate

  The repairman had to dismantle and open my laptop to find the problem.

take away

- buy food and take it elsewhere

  Can I have two boxes as take away please?

take back

- agree to return

  They only take back unopened goods with a receipt.

take care of

- look after

  Many grandparents take of their grandchildren after school.

take off

- leave the ground

  The flight will take off at 7:00pm.

take in

- allow to stay with

  The SPCA always takes in stray animals that they find.
- Notice with your eyes

  She took in every detail of that performance and repeats it flawlessly.
- Understand what is happening

  After taking in the scene outside the mall, he called the police.

take on

- hire

  They will take on many new employees once they complete the expansion.

take out

- remove

  The student took out a pencil and notebook.

- Invite to a social event

  I want to take her out to dinner and a movie afterwards.

tell off

- Reprimand or scold

  Her parents really told her off for not attending classes regularly.

test out

- Carry out experiment

  I work out for at least two hours every other day at the gym.

  find a solution

  We need to work out and find all the problems in that proposal.

think over

- considerer

  I will have to think it over very carefully before I make my final decision.

throw away

- discard or get rid of

  Please throw away all the food that has already gone by the use-by-date – it can be dangerous.

throw up

- vomit or be sick

  There was something bad in the food and everyone started throwing up after returning from lunch.

tire out

- exhaustion

  The active grandchildren will tire out their grandparents very quickly.

touch down

- arrive on the runway

  The flight will touch down one hour late because of delays at the departure.

trade-in

- part payment for replacement

  They will accept your current car as a trade-in equal to the deposit when you buy a new model.